

March 2025 Newsletter

We are in the final stretch of the 2025 Legislative Session with our final day under the Gold Dome, known as Sine Die, scheduled for April 4th. I am proud of our legislation and the progress we have made on our legislative priorities. Listed below are some specific updates, and I look forward to hearing from you about our work.

We love the spring time and eagerly await everything blooming and coming back to life after the winter. There are so many wonderful community events in Cobb, Cherokee and North Fulton. I hope to see you and your family around town enjoying and giving back.

Red Tape Rollback

We passed Senate Bill 28, the “Red Tape Rollback Act of 2025.” This legislation takes a hard look at the regulations that have piled up over the years and ensures they still serve their intended purpose. For too long, government overreach has placed an unfair burden on small businesses, farmers and job creators—the backbone of our economy. SB 28 requires a small business impact analysis for future legislation and economic impact reviews for any new rules costing the state more than $1 million over five years. Simply put, this bill ensures that Georgia remains a low-tax, business-friendly state where people can provide for their families—without being strangled by government bureaucracy.

Tort Reform

A major topic this legislative session has been tort reform. Finding solutions that remove burdens on small businesses, healthcare providers and consumers is a priority for me and will take numerous steps to combat. Specifically, all Georgians need for us to lower insurance costs, prevent abusive litigation and ensure that businesses—especially small, family-owned operations—can operate and flourish. Equally, we need to make sure insurance companies and other groups are being honest brokers and not taking advantage of consumers. Together, I am confident we can solve this issue and continue to keep Georgia the #1 place for business, as well as living and raising a family.

Artificial Intelligence Legislation

This is a top priority for me working alongside Rep. Brad Thomas in the House. I am making good progress on the important bills listed below:

- Georgia Consumer Data Privacy Act
- AI Accountability Act
- Ensuring Accountability for Illegal AI Activities Act

Crossover Day

We are swiftly approaching an important milestone known as Crossover Day on March 7th. This important date marks the deadline for all bills to pass through their originating chamber, commonly referred to as the house of origin. I am working diligently to get all my bills passed from the Senate and off to the House of Representatives!

Senator Albers hosting Senate Pages for the Day.
